SHENANDOAH SHUTTERS

Shenandoah Shutters, a direct sale manufacturer, is dedicated to making solid hardwood shutters with a fine furniture finish. Custom-made plantation shutters are all that they make and sell. Elegant plantation shutters bring warmth and comfort to some of the finest residential and commercial interiors in Virginia, Washington and Maryland. Shenandoah Shutters has made shutters for... a home with thirteen Palladian windows, the Alexandria Show House, a National Symphony Orchestra Show House in Washington, DC with 15' tall windows, a house designed by renowned architect Hugh Newell Jacobson, several members of Congress...and most recently for a well known New England Senator.

Commercial jobs have been completed for restaurants, law firms, the Country Club of Virginia, and more.

Many customers worry about UV damage to fabrics, oriental carpets, wood furniture, and paintings. Since reds fade very quickly, oriental carpets and mahogany furniture are often the first items to be affected. With a slight angling of the louvers, the direct sunlight coming into a room can be blocked. The soft light which is reflected off of the louvers bounces off the ceiling, creating a gentle, relaxing mood. In today's fast-paced, pressure filled world, everyone appreciates this relaxing effect.

Shutters unite the past with the present. They are never out of style. Their simplicity allows other elements of the room's design— wallcovering, moulding, furniture, etc... to stand out rather than compete with the window treatment. Shutters work well in all types of interiors!

Shenandoah Shutters' Richmond showroom is furnished like a room in an upscale home. Prospective customers enjoy touring the workshop and finishing facility to see how the shutters are made. A new showroom has recently opened in the Washington, DC area. A beautiful English country garden in front of this building welcomes visitors.

Shenandoah Shutters has been a success because of their production team and staff. Everyone works hard to maintain Shenandoah Shutters' reputation as The Plantation Shutter Company. The salespersons go to great lengths to design the installation properly, the production team lives up to their delivery promises, and the office staff keeps in contact with customers every step along the way.
